

HIV-Discordant Couples

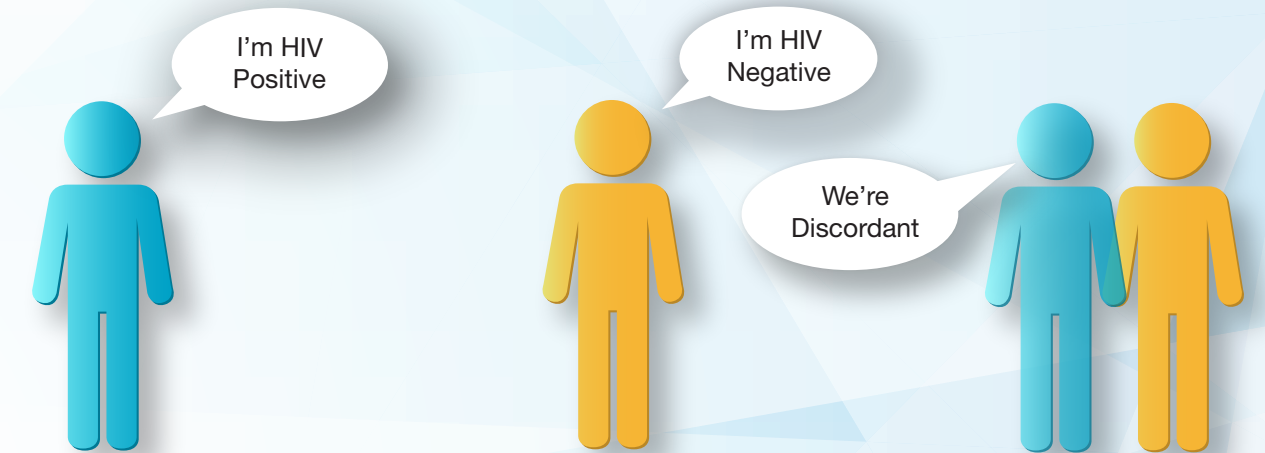

What is an HIV-Discordant Couple?

A couple is discordant if one partner has HIV while the other does not.

An HIV discordant couple is also called a mixed-status couple.

Ways to prevent HIV transmission within a discordant couple

Take ART (antiretroviral treatment) as directed

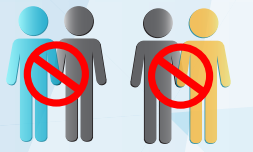

Keep all medical appointments

Take PrEP for HIV prevention

Test yourself for HIV often

Don't have sex with other people

Use condoms during sex

For more information, visit HIVinfo.NIH.gov.